

115. Diffusing Frames

The construction, striking (not to include wrecking), remodeling, maintenance and rigging of all heavy diffusing frames, the setting-up, maintenance and rigging of all cables, beams and poles used for such work and the building of all scaffolding required for such operation. When poles, cables and beams in connection with construction of outdoor sets are also used for diffusion. The Producer shall not be required to use Grips on any such work which is done in connection with the building of the set except that work which is above the top of the set.